

Gästrike Hälsinge Nation

AVAILABLE SCHOLARSHIPS IN THE FALL SEMESTER OF 2023

These are the scholarships that are managed by Gästrike-Hälsinge Nation and are available for its members who study at Uppsala University. Some scholarships have reservations for place of birth, field of study etc. and should only be applied for if you qualify for them. If two or more candidates are deemed to have equivalent merits based on the scholarship criteria, the scholarship board will take into account other information given in the application. A regular scholarship is paid in a deposit of half the annual amount each semester for the duration of the scholarship. All regular scholarships can be prolonged by the holder for as long as the description states. An extra scholarship is a one-time payment of half the annual amount and cannot be prolonged. All scholarships with an annual amount of less than 10 000 SEK are awarded in full during the current semester and do not need to be monitored. For more detailed information regarding scholarships and applications, please contact the Secretary of Scholarships at stipendier@ghnation.se.

The last day of application is on the 20th of October 2023

In addition to the scholarships proclaimed here there are also several scholarships that are managed by the university but only are available to members of Gästrike-Hälsinge nation. For more information regarding those scholarships, please visit the university's web page.

Göransson-Sandviken Scholarship Fund for Research and Travel

Annually there is about 2 000 000 SEK available for distributing in the fund for academic research and travel expenses tied to the applicant's field of study. Both of these are applied for on a separate form. Both require that the applicant is a Swedish citizen. For further information regarding these scholarships, please read the Swedish version of this proclamation or direct your questions towards the Secretary of Scholarships.

Application procedure

All of these scholarships except the ones tied to the Göransson-Sandvikens scholarship fund can be applied for on the same form, but you have to specify which scholarships you are applying for. A confidential declaration of your financial situation and other attachments has to be attached to this application. The forms required for application can be found on the nation's web page at: www.ghnation.se

The last day of application is on the 20st of October 2023

Application with a confidential declaration of your financial situation is handed in to the First Curator at the nation or sent by post to the nation.

The board of Scholarships at the nation follows the university's rules regarding applicant which among other things mean that students at a doctoral or researcher level cannot apply for scholarships unless it is clearly defined in the description that they can. As such only the Göransson-Sandviken research and travel scholarships are available for students at this level. For further questions, please contact:
